

Six Lessons of Art Appreciation (Photo Essay Book 20)

Six Lessons of Art Appreciation is photo essay. It is composed of more than 188 art, painting and photo. The topic of art appreciation may traditionally be study of its variety of forms over time. The primary theme reviewed is Biblical art; while the most common artist is Leonardo da Vinci. A first lesson traces forms of art from cave painting, fertility idols and Renaissance subjects. You will find Egyptian gold buried to their Pharaohs, Greek vases, and Mosaic of Roman Gods. I present 11 works of painting from artists; including Van Gogh, Monet and Sistine Chapel of Michelangelo. I cap the work of an original image or word defying reflection of another painting. I instruct to find no innate or limiting basis to create or reflect. I compare and contrast appreciation versus criticism; such as to collect comment of such poor brush strokes, and to end up having created a form of language from it all. One Chapter reviews tendency to reject art, hold against the entertainment of those outcasts and not permit alternative opinion. See tear gas thrown and axe buried at the heads of Biblical art painting. This book is copyright under threat of death to exist, and to see the brilliance of da Vincis Last Supper. See painting of God to reach out to touch fingers and to find photo of the Michelangelo statue of David. I use variety of the very complex and intricate Biblical painting and to compare a means to talks in terms of the literally not existing provenances of later times. I offer pastel forms of art and suggest simple color and pattern. The actual existence of forms of art to portray a creature from a black lagoon like the entirety of reflection or abstraction are left not resolved. The essay is more in terms of a Roman God Bacchus; who was to represent the harvest of grapes. The association of grapes to be metaphor of decision or art of course was never found. See a pencil sketch of da Vinci of his popular topic to draw and form statues of horse; while to see a stained glass mosaic of Pegasus as a flying horse. The bits of colored glass form like metaphor a translation of Bible. Aristotle wrote more in terms of Divinity to be phenomenon; so language as art is also reviewed. The ancient practices of words and painting from this eternity have several form. The advanced topics use the ancient forms of symbol, and to talk in terms to elicit principles in series. The essay is written in terms of sequence of art works; whose creation is then form to see and envision advanced sentient states. The presented topic does not then have a source or destiny. The Wise Man description to only live at a name and home are contrast of images to arise of the mind. The creature maybe described of various of my works to be more similar of a Dolphin Man. Words or painting arise ideas of memory or subconscious. A variety of nature art is included of the essay; including the playful and humorous tendency of the creatures to mimic of creative idea. A closing Chapter presents a case study of the lady and art; who states an interest to a new or better life. She attends classes to learn of art appreciation; except to wear a skirt and to remove the bra. See a very funny series of a sleeping beauty in action to Prince Charming cartoons; while to turn a page to find praying mantis to devour its prey. Signs caution to walk and not run; while to then see photo of a wedding. A bald eagle dives after ocean fish. See both Renaissance, Victorian and Cosmopolitan art rendition of ladies. The last and unsigned lesson instructs of a series of reflection to be similar of advanced language.
