

HIV and AIDS in the workplace

HIV/AIDS (Human Immunodeficiency Virus/Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) has become a health and an economic problem in the business environment. The majority of large U.S. corporations already employ a significant number of people who are infected with HIV. Global statistics show that in 2003 34.3 million people are living with HIV while in 1999 5.4 million were living with the infection. As the epidemic spreads throughout the workforce, Human resources personnel and managers in general must be prepared to deal effectively with the challenge of having employees who are affected by HIV and AIDS.
