

Divine Impulse

Divine Impulse is a series of five messages. The first message is about how the Divine Impulse brings about unity, the wholeness of the human family. In the second message, the pursuit of happiness is one of the great human quests. Happiness is but the Divine impulse within us and the world. In the third message, consider how this theme has to do with depression. I am convinced that God has made us to be very complex and thoughtful persons. We have many difficulties to face in this life. The fourth message in this series is about the Divine source of freedom and how God would help us stay free. In the fifth message, one of the most powerful qualities of character any person can possess is that of encouragement. Explore and enjoy the concepts presented here in Divine Impulse.
